

NEW DEVELOPMENT IN POWHATAN CASE

Two Negroes Arrested and Two Are Being Sought by Officers.

FRESH EVIDENCE FOUND

Warrants Issued Day Before Taylors Go to Electric Chair for the Crime.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
POWHATAN COURTHOUSE, VA., May 4.—On the strength of newly discovered evidence, Charles and Emanuel Brown, sons of John Brown, the negro who was electrocuted in Richmond last Friday for the Skipwith-Johnson murders, and brothers of William Brown, who also was electrocuted last Friday for the same crime, were arrested this evening at 6 o'clock by Sheriff E. A. Baugh. The prisoners were locked up in the jail here. The nature of the evidence that has just been unearthed has not been made public, the officers declining to discuss the matter.

Justice Crump today issued warrants for the arrest of two other persons in connection with the murder, and Sheriff Baugh, Commonwealth's Attorney Bonifant, J. A. Gilman, Jr., and H. C. Burton are searching for them to-night. The names of the persons for whom the posse is searching cannot be ascertained.

The report circulated in Richmond yesterday to the effect that the negroes of the county will meet the bodies of Isam and Joe Taylor, who are to be electrocuted to-morrow morning, at the station here and escort them to the burial place, five miles from the station, seems to be without foundation. Some of the negroes of the county were going around to-day collecting money with which to give the two men decent burials and this fact probably gave rise to the report.

So far as can be learned to-night the negroes do not contemplate meeting the bodies with a brass band, as reported, and there will be no demonstration by them after the funerals are over.

Sheriff Baugh and Commonwealth's Attorney Bonifant will be on the alert, and will take prompt measures to quell any demonstration.

The men will be buried on the farm formerly owned by Isam Taylor. The place is about 4 1/2 miles from the scene of the horrible murder.

Taylor Negroes Die To-Day.
Joe and Isam Taylor, convicted with three others for the murder of Mary E. Skipwith and Walter G. Johnson, 12, will die in the electric chair at the penitentiary this morning. Lewis Jenkins, the last of the five principals, will be executed Friday morning, the first two, John and William Brown, having been sent to the chair on April 20.

The trial of Stephen and Fleming Johnson and Robert Taylor, whose evidence convicted the murderers, was originally set for to-morrow. They are now confined in the Henrico county jail, and the officers who were expected to arrive here yesterday to carry them to the place of trial did not arrive.

Gets Five Years.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
NORFOLK, VA., May 4.—Ernest Paul, about twenty-two years of age, charged with stealing a $225 watch from H.
Farriss, chief commissary steward on the United States battleship Virginia, now at the Norfolk Navy Yard, was convicted in the Corporation Court today and given five years in the penitentiary. It was charged that the watch was stolen from Farriss while the latter slept in the Norfolk ferry-house. The timepiece was recovered by Detective Bridges in Newport News, where Paul carried it to sell.

IMITATION NOON FALLS.

Heavy Copper Disk Narrowly Misses Madame Le Brun.
NORFOLK, VA., May 4.—Madame Le Brun, the operatic singer, had a narrow escape from death to-night, on the stage of the Colonial Theatre here, when a large copper disk, used to imitate the moon, fell on the stage, narrowly missing her, and falling on her skirt. Madame Le Brun continued her song amid wild applause.

ANTI-SALOONISTS OPEN CAMPAIGN

In Point of Numbers and Enthusiasm First Petersburg Meeting Is a Success.

Times-Dispatch Bureau, 105 North Eymore Street, Petersburg, Va., May 4.

The Anti-Saloon League opened the local open campaign in Petersburg to-night with a mass-meeting in the Academy of Music. The meeting was a success both in point of numbers and enthusiasm. The crowd was large, filling the main hall and in part the gallery. Many women were present.
Robert E. Gill presided, explained the object of the meeting and introduced the speakers.

U. S. Barbour, of South Boston, a business man, discussed the liquor traffic from a business view, and to secure success in this fight he urged organization, work of committees, personal effort, preaching, organization of the women and children; sacrifice of time and means, and keeping the campaign hot. "We are not fighting the liquor men," he said, "but their business, and we must overwhelm the people with the righteousness of our cause to secure victory."

Professor A. K. Davis, the second speaker, discussed conditions in Petersburg, and made a strong argument for the suppression of the liquor traffic in the city in the interest of the public welfare and for the common good. A year ago, he said, a petition signed by 500 voters asking for restrictions of the traffic had been unanimously turned down by the Commonwealth Council, and he felt that this action should be resented. "The time has come for action," he said, "and there can be no compromise with the liquor interests. It is proposed to get the vote of every man in the city on the liquor traffic. The city shall be wet or dry."

He appealed to the men of Petersburg for the sake of humanity and the common good to stand for and vote for the abolition of the liquor traffic.

Rev. J. B. Winn made a few remarks, and was followed by Dr. J. D.
McAllister, who declared that local option in Petersburg had become inevitable, because the people are ar-telligent and religious and that it would be a reflection on them not to have it and try to drive liquor from their midst. "We criticize the efforts of the business men to keep off local option," he said, "there is no possibility of stopping it, and they had better submit."

Dr. McAllister described the drunken drift of the city, the epitome of the whole liquor question.

ington Schools.

ington public schools will be held this

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
NORFOLK, VA., May 4.—At a company meeting to-night, W. W. Dey, Jr., a well-known young attorney, was elected junior second lieutenant of the Norfolk Light Artillery Blues, to succeed Ernest Pracker, D. D., of Norfolk.
The election was unanimous.

REPUBLICAN GAIN FAR FROM LIKELY

Such an Idea Is Pooh-Poohed by Democrats in Washington.

AT THEIR OLD GAME

Slump and His Allies Arousing the Opposition to Greater Activity.

The Times-Dispatch Bureau, Congress Hall,
Washington, D. C., May 4.

A. P. Gillespie, a well-known Republican of Tidewater county, it is stated here on good authority, would not accept the nomination of his party for Governor of Virginia if it were tendered him. L. P. Summers has been quoted as saying that he would make the race if named by his convention.

A story to the effect that President Taft has promised to send the voters of his Commonwealth to take an account of his campaign is causing considerable adverse comment, but if Mr. Taft said that, no one knows to whom he said it, and those who know the man do not believe that he made any such statement. He promised Chairman Slump to send Secretary Nagel or Postmaster-General Hitchcock to Newport News to address the State convention in July, but further than that he did not go so far as to say that he was much interested in the campaign and would do what he could in a proper way to encourage the rank and file, as well as the leaders, of his party.

Democrats here pooh-pooh the idea of the Republicans making any substantial gains in Virginia this year.
They say that Representative Slump and his allies are at their old game of "drag and boast" before the campaign opens.

Have No Issue.

"Why," said a Democratic member of the House, "they have no issue. Everything they have suggested is a retreat. They are not fighting the liquor question by taking the same stand that the Democrats do. At least, that is what Mr. Slump predicts. Senator Harman, on the other hand, has declared that he will take the temperance fight, which with him means State-wide prohibition, to the floor of the Newport News convention.
You can depend on them. As a result they are making much ado about nothing."

"What of their capitulation clamor?" The man who pays his taxes and qualifies himself for voting, as well as for class action, is worrying about the head tax, for he is always ready when the time to pay rolls around. The man who cannot vote is the one that is making the row.
The Republicans are not gaining on this issue, for the honest voter does not like to be put in the class with the fellow who will not pay his taxes, but waits for a politician to do it.

"They have nothing to offer.
We all desire good roads, and will have them when we get able. The proposition to safeguard the banks is not new. Democrats have espoused that for years."

The Democrats, nevertheless, is arousing the Democrats. Chairman Slump has excited the Democratic leaders to greater activity. The very fact that North Carolina sent up three Republican Congressmen last November has righted all Southern Democrats.
The wiping out of old-time Democratic majorities has caused alarm.

Controversy Gives Alarm.

The controversy between Director North, of the Census Bureau, and Secretary Nagel, of the Department of Commerce, has given rise to considerable trouble to Southern legislators. Mr. North has been very liberal with the Democrats, and if he remains in charge of the office during the taking of the next census, which begins in April, 1910, and his supervisors and enumerators will be selected at the suggestion of the Senators and Representatives of the various States.

With a liberal director Virginia and North Carolina have a majority of Democratic officers, the former getting nine Democratic and one Republican supervisor, and the latter seven and three respectively, but if a change comes, the balance will favor the proportion of Republicans might be very much greater.

There are pie-hunters in both parties in all the States. The bare announcement by the Associated Press that there would be a number of jobs for each State and Territory has set the boys in the trenches to work. "Thousands, yes millions, have applied for positions. Every Congressman's mail box is full of appealing letters. For every position there are dozens of applications."

These places will be given to favorites in many instances. Every Congressman builds fences for to-morrow, and he has learned that a stitch in time saves nine. The chap who can do the most good in the district will be given preference. Those who would apply had just as well realize this before they waste paper and time in writing.

The way seems easy, but there are many ways in which the devil may trip you, and the average man who is shrewd enough to get to Congress nowadays is not slow in learning the byways to nominations and elections.
The supervisor of each district is a year and $1 per thousand inhabitants.
Therefore the position is worth about $3,500 a year. The enumerators, 1,500 or more to each State, will receive so much per person listed.

A strenuous but subrosa effort is being made here to put a quietus on the Filipino elgar trade in this country, which amounts to about 150, 000,000 cigars a year, by shutting out the duty-free import of the free list. Virginia, Pennsylvania, North Carolina and other tobacco-producing States are interested, but so long as Mr. Taft is President the plan is not likely to win. A little brown-skinned islander has a friend in the Great White Chief.

The In Commission.

BOWLING GREEN, VA., May 4.—The residence of J. Bayd Washington, commissioner of revenue of Port Royal District, who lives near Woodport, was destroyed by fire yesterday. Most of the personal effects were saved. The loss is about $2,000, with $500 insurance. The fire started in the kitchen.

UNVEIL SMITH STATUE AT JAMESTOWN MAY 13

Association for Preservation of Virginia Antiquities Makes Final Plans for Excursion Down River—Still Working to Remove That Fence.

The central committee, Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities, met yesterday noon in the rooms of the Virginia Historical Society, with Mrs. J. Taylor Elyson associate president, in the chair.
The reading of the minutes was followed by the treasurer's report, in which the announcement was made that Miss Annie Galt, of Williamsburg, on behalf of the branch in that city, had paid the interest on the note owed by the association for the purchase of the Powder Horn lot. The treasurer reported $226.40 in bank May 1, with bills representing current expenses to be deducted.

The corresponding secretary reported letters written to directresses of branches in regard to members of the association who had paid their dues for the current year being allowed free admission to Jamestown, and the Rising Sun Tavern at Fredericksburg.
Letters of thanks otherwise brought the number of letters up to seventeen.
A letter from Mrs. Duke, directress of the Middle Branch, at Charles-ville, was read, in which she reported the organization of a new branch at Fredericksburg, and the placing of a tablet on the City Hall, marking the former home of Edmund Randolph.
Mrs. J. E. Eiders, chairman of the association, reported that she had received a letter from Mrs. Elyson, who said she hoped it would soon be possible for the landmark committee to place a tablet on the City Hall, marking the
former home of Edmund Randolph.
Mrs. J. E. Eiders, chairman of the
former home of Edmund Randolph.

Mrs. John B. Lightfoot, chairman of the Jamestown committee, reported many visitors to Jamestown, and the parkers for the graves at these buried inside of the Jamestown Church to be shortly put in place. She exhibited a series of seven photographs, showing the John Smith monument and other points of Jamestown interest, and photographs to be put on sale in the souvenir house.

After That Fence.
Mrs. Lightfoot read a letter from Mrs. Joseph Leidy, of Philadelphia, including $50 from the branch at that city, to go toward the payment of the Powder Horn note in Williamsburg.
Robert A. Lancaster, Jr., Mrs. Lightfoot said, had returned from Washington, where he was with the branch at the removal of the government fence around the Jamestown monument. He will meet Captain John Lamb to-day, and hope to attain his purpose by means of the Quartermaster-General for some of the United States War Department. An offer of an opportunity given the association to acquire by purchase the remaining volumes of William L. Sheppard's book, "The Princess Pocahontas," was reported by Mrs. Lightfoot.
On motion of Mrs. W. C. Stanard, Mr. Sheppard's offer to the association was accepted, and Mrs. Lightfoot was appointed a committee of one to make arrangements in regard to payment by the association and report to the next meeting in May. The sun dial given by the Newington A. P. V. A. branch for the garden around the Daughters of the American Revolution building at Jamestown, was ordered, and Mrs. Lightfoot expects to go to Jametown on Friday to make preparations for the annual pilgrimage on May 13.
Mrs. W. G. Stanard, chairman of the landmark committee, reported that she had written letters to directresses of branches asking them to appoint a member from each branch as members of her committee. She had received a letter from City Engineer Bolling, who said he hoped it would soon be possible
former home of Edmund Randolph.
Mrs. J. E. Eiders, chairman of the
former home of Edmund Randolph.

Excursion to Jamestown.
Mrs. Thomas Christian, chairman of the annual A. P. V. A. pilgrimage on May 13, reported all necessary arrangements in regard to the excursion of the Pocahontas and the placing of placards and tickets, to have been put in successful progress. Mrs. Charles P. Lee supplemented Mrs. Christian's report by telling of her work as chairman of the publication committee.
Mrs. Christian said that the Pocahontas would leave the Richmond Wharf at 8 o'clock on the morning of May 13, and that luncheon would be provided on board for those desiring it.

If the unveiling of the John Smith Monument, said Mrs. Henry Taylor, to take place on the arrival of the steamer at Jamestown, the Rev. Corbin Braxton Bryan, D. D., of Petersburg, will make the opening prayer. Almond A. Blow, of Bedford, will read the address, and Lieutenant-Governor J.
Taylor Elyson will receive the statue on behalf of the A. P. V. A. It will be unveiled by Joseph Bryan, III, the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. St. George Bryan. Mayor D. C. Richardson will introduce the speakers. Mrs. Taylor also said that Messrs. Manning, of Boston, and Cooper, of New York, the latter the sculptor of the John Smith Monument, will be the A. P. V. A.'s guests on May 13.

The corresponding secretary was requested to write a letter of thanks to Mrs. George Evelyn Harrison for extending to the association the hospitality of her home for May 13, and to express the regret that the time was too short to accept.

PICKS UP MORNING PAPER

AND SEES THAT HE IS A HERO

Robert Baur Tells Reporter That He Had Already Planned to Buy Home if Carnegie Commission Rewarded Him for Trying to Rescue Barnes.

It isn't for the everyday acts of daring, according to the everyday accounts in the newspapers, that a man goes down to posterity as a hero, though in many cases he is entitled more than passing mention for something that he does in the way of saving life or property. In the first place some people are not inclined to take seriously what they read in some papers, and these people are generally men, who do not care to blow their own horns. Andrew Carnegie, who conceived the idea of searching them out and rewarding them whether or not, has hit upon a scheme, and brings to light the deeds of men, and sends the fakers deeper into oblivion.

After reading the accounts in The Times-Dispatch of the heroism of Robert Baur, former Governor Montague, who is a trustee of the Carnegie Institute, in Washington, became interested in the man, and after taking affidavits, made application for a medal from the Carnegie Commission. The commission had time to send a representative here. When he did come he was impressed with the story told by Baur and other eye-witnesses of the river tragedy that no time was lost in making the recommendation.

When the time the Governor Montague first spoke to me about the medal and the possibility that there would be quite a sum of money along with it, I said to him, "I am not interested in the medal, but I am interested in the money. I am not interested in the medal, but I am in-
terested in the money."

He takes the honor in the same modest way that he received the congratulations of his friends after he had risked his life in the attempt to save Edward Barnes. Already he is making arrangements to select a suitable place to be able to buy a lot in the suburbs large enough to raise prize chickens as a side line to his regular job.

Every Congressman is suffering from the effects of exposure on the day of his swim and the several days after, when he searched the river for the body of Barnes. At that time he was signed for the season to pitch for the Norfolk baseball team, but rheumatism got into the shoulder of his "salad wing," and despite his work in the Turkish baths since, he has never been able to pitch an overhand ball. He says that he will soon be over the lumps in his muscles, and fears that he will never again be able to make good on the diamond. He hopes, however, to buy a lot in the suburbs large enough to raise prize chickens as a side line to his regular job.
